Junta airstrikes and drone bombings kill three civilians, injure nine in Pruso, Demawso and Pekhon townships

Despite the junta military council and their PNO (Pa-O National Organization) militia ally, having control over Moebye and Pekhon towns, the administrative systems are not operating effectively, and certain villages outside these areas, along with key military routes, remain under the control of combined revolutionary forces. Consequently, this month has seen increased attacks and airstrikes aimed at gaining full control of these routes. In June, junta airstrikes and drone bombings in Pruso, Demawso and Pekhon townships resulted in the deaths of three civilians, among them two schoolchildren, while injuring 9 others.

Timeline of conflict incidents during June

On June 4, at around 5:30 pm, three junta airstrikes on two villages in the western part of Demawso township killed a man in his 30s, injured two other civilians, and damaged houses.

On June 11, at around 1 pm, an undetonated junta artillery shell exploded while it was being dismantled in a village in the western part of Demawso township, killing two men, seriously injuring another, and damaging a house.

On June 15, at 9 am, a junta drone strike hit a village in Nam Meh Khon, Demawso township, injuring two men in their 40s and damaging a house.

On June 15, at around 11 pm, the junta launched an aerial bombardment in one of the villages on the east of Moebye town. Around this time, junta troops also fired heavy weapons at intervals into the outskirts of Pekhon town.

On June 16, at 11:20 pm and 11:40 pm, the junta carried out two airstrikes on two villages in Pekhon township. No local residents were injured, but the attacks sparked panic among the public.

On June 18, at around 6 pm, the junta carried out an airstrike on a village in Pekhon township, which resulted in an explosion on an old cowshed near a monastery in the village.

On June 18, at around 11 pm, the junta used Y12 aircraft and a jet fighter to drop more than 30 bombs on Pyin Saung village in Pekhon township, injuring a local man and damaging seven houses.

On June 24, at around 10 pm, a junta airstrike on a village in Loi Nang Pha, west of Demawso town, caused an explosion on a mountain outside the village.

On June 24, at around 1 pm, a junta drone strike hit a village three times in Nam Meh Khon, Demawso township, killing a 10-year-old primary school girl and a 6-year-old kindergartener, and seriously injuring a young man.
