Location of Junta operations and human rights violations October 1-31 ,2026

6 civilians killed, over 20 injured in Karenni State and Pekhon township due to junta airstrikes, drone bombings and suicide drone attacks

The military junta has continued its operations along the Union Highway between Demawso and Pruso, and has conducted daily reconnaissance using drones and aircraft in villages and upland cultivation fields in the eastern and western parts of Demawso and Pruso townships. Due to ongoing clashes between revolutionary joint forces and the military junta west of Moebye town on the Shan-Karenni border, nearby residents have been forced to flee and become displaced. During October, junta airstrikes, drone bombings, and suicide drone attacks resulted in the death of 6 civilians, including 3 students under the age of 14, and injury of over 20 civilians in Karenni State and Pekhon township.

Timeline of conflict incidents during October

On October 1, at around 11 pm, the junta dropped four bombs from a jet fighter on three locations in the western area of Pruso. The next morning, the junta used two suicide drones to attack one of the same locations, destroying two homes of displaced people.

On October 4, at around 1 pm and 3 pm, the junta carried out two airstrikes on a location in the western part of Demawso, damaging several houses and destroying two cars.

On October 5, at around 10 pm, the junta launched two drone strikes on a location east of Demawso. Although the attacks did not cause any casualties, they triggered fear among local residents and displaced persons.

On October 7, at 10:15 pm, a kamikaze drone was used by the junta to attack an IDP camp in the eastern part of Loikaw town, damaging a car.

On October 8, at around 2 pm, two junta jets dropped three bombs on a village in the west of Moebye town on the Shan-Karenni border where fighting was intense, killing two men, aged 65 and 21, and injuring more than 10 others.

On October 10, at around 11 pm, a house in a refugee camp in the eastern part of Loikaw was destroyed by a kamikaze drone attack by the junta.

On October 10, at 11 pm, a kamikaze drone attack by the junta on a village in the western part of Demawso township seriously injured two sleeping women, aged 50 and 40, and destroyed a house. On October 8, the same village had been targeted by a kamikaze drone attack and drone bombing but no one was hurt.

On October 13, at around 11 pm, junta aircraft dropped seven bombs, including a 500-pound bomb, on a location west of Moebye town on the Shan-Karenni border. Although the attacks did not cause any damage, local residents were terrified.

On October 17, a displaced woman transporting paddy by motorcycle in an area west of Moebye on the Shan-Karenni border was struck and killed in a junta drone attack.

On October 18, at around 3 pm, the junta dropped four bombs on a village in the eastern area of Pruso, destroying two houses in the village. The junta military has been conducting daily reconnaissance of villages and farmlands in the eastern and western parts of Pruso township using drones.

On October 22, just after midnight, two junta jet fighters bombed an IDP camp in the eastern part of Loikaw township, injuring 3 IDPs and destroying a house along with a motorcycle.

On October 24, at around 11 am, a village in Nam Meh Khon township (formerly part of Demawso township) was attacked by a junta suicide drone. The attack caused panic among the local population.

On October 24, at around 11 pm, a junta jet fighter dropped three bombs on a location in the western part of Demawso. On the morning of the 25th, another suicide drone attack was carried out in the same place.

On October 31, at around 2 pm, two junta jet fighters and a Y-12 aircraft conducted more than 20 airstrikes on a school inside an IDP camp in the eastern part of Loikaw township, an area without active conflict. The bombardments killed three students under the age of 14, including two 12-year-old girls and a 10-year-old boy, and injured five other students.
